Apex HCM Announces Addition of Online Compliance Training to their Product Suite

Roswell, GA. (July 6, 2020) – Apex HCM, a leader in payroll and human capital management technology, today announced it added turn-key compliance training, Learn, to its product suite of employer solutions. The addition of Learn is a result of Apex’s expanded partnership with ThinkHR and Mammoth, leading industry experts in HR, compliance, and employer insights. The combination of a cloud-based payroll and HCM platform with a full suite of HR solutions is a powerful way for Apex payroll service bureaus to serve its clients’ people and compliance related needs. “Our data shows small and mid-size business employers are increasingly reliant on online employee training. With Learn and other critical tools offered in Apex’s platform, small businesses can ensure compliance and reduce risk, while driving employee engagement,” says Vince Murdica, Chief Revenue Officer of ThinkHR and Mammoth.

Apex’s Learn provides a learning experience specific to employers’ industry and compliance requirements. New courses are added and existing courses are revised regularly to comply with the latest national and state-specific harassment and discrimination training requirements. In addition to harassment and discrimination prevention, Apex’s Learn catalog also features more than 300 courses, ranging from cybersecurity and people operations. “Learn aids small businesses in not only administering required compliance, training, and professional development, but also a tool for them to track and manage these certifications and courses across their companies,” Wes Muschara, Apex HCM VP of Product Management, adds.

“Considering today’s environment, small and mid-size businesses are leaning on technology even more to meet compliance and professional development needs,” Muschara concludes.
